“THE TURBYFILL DENTURE PROCEDURE”

Dr. Walter F. “Jack” Turbyfill

Dr. Walter F. “Jack” Turbyfill is a 1959 graduate of the University of Louisville. His private practice is located in Columbia, SC, where he specializes in fixed and removable prosthodontics. Dr. Turbyfill studied with the late Dr. Earl Pound and is proud to continue teaching the methods of patient management and complete denture construction the two of them developed during their years together. He is devoted to teaching his name-bearing “Turbyfill Denture Procedure,” which teaches the principles of complete dentures and partials. He does this through demonstration and lecture seminars. Dr. Turbyfill maintains memberships with the American Academy of Esthetic Dentistry and the American Academy of Restorative Dentistry, as well as many other dental organizations.

The Turbyfill Denture Procedure is a 2 ½ day demonstration course where a patient is provided from one of the dentists attending the course. Dr. Turbyfill will demonstrate how to make a denture for that particular patient. He will take you through all phases of preparing the diagnostic denture and will provide instructions for the final denture. The dentist who provides the patient will finalize the denture for the patient. The student will be taught:

- How to re-establish upper and lower anterior teeth to esthetic and phonetic positions.
- Posterior occlusion through demonstration and participation.
- How to interpret and manipulate the tissue conditioner when the experimental denture is inserted.
- Refinement procedures after the patient has worn the denture overnight in order to provide for the development of sophisticated dentures.

“Every dentist who is serious about quality dentistry should listen to Jack Turbyfill. He is an excellent teacher with concepts and methods that can change any practice for the better.”
